Week Ahead

WARNING! 2012 is here. It marks the beginning of the 2012 to 2015 period I have written about a number of times. This period has an astrological signature that has not been seen since the early 30's. I expect the next 3 years to be the most difficult many of us will ever see in our lifetimes.

CME IMPACT: Arriving a little later than expected, a coronal mass ejection (CME) hit Earth's magnetic field at 0617 UT on Jan. 22nd. According to analysts at the Goddard Space Weather Lab, the impact strongly compressed Earth's magnetic field and briefly exposed satellites in geosynchronous orbit to solar wind plasma. Shifting lines of magnetic force induced strong ground currents in Norway and sparked bright auroras over the upper reaches of North America. Remember, markets tend to peak following these events, and can drop significantly about a week later.

This is one week later!

Astro graphs are painting an ugly picture for the equity markets, and for metal.

Overbought indicators are flashing red. Stochastic indicators have been in overbought territory for nearly the entire month.

Weekly charts of the DJI, OEX and SPX formed Doji's last week, and the DJI touched it May 2011 high.

This week we have a number of astrological CIT indicators which I have grouped together for the "A" reversal on Tuesday.

- 1) Sun Squares Jupiter on Monday.
- 2) Mars goes retrograde on Tuesday.
- 3) New Moon
- 4) Moon enters a new sign.
